21st July, 1888 DEAR SIR,-In reply to your favour of the 6th June, which I have been very glad to receive, I beg to inform your Chamber that the London Chamber of Commerce has for some years advocated the reduction of our colonial postal rates to a minimum not exceeding 2ld. This was one of the topics for discussion at he conference of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, convened by this Chamber two years ago, and duly reported in the "Chamber of

The Chamber has also instituted deputations, both to the Postmaster General, and to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, for the same object, and there is very little | doubt that the proposed improvement of the new sea service is mainly owing to our exertions. So far, however, we have failed to move either the Post Office or the Treasury in the direction of a reduction of the overland mail rates. I am glad, therefore to find that a revement similar to our own is being initiated from the other side, and I trust that your Chamber will endeavour to cause the Chinese Chambers to agitate this question in conjunction with our yn, as I believe, if some joint action could be then by the whole of the Eastern Chambers of mmerce, we might have a greater chance of

A ... prolonged official investigation, the most extensive and complete destruction of steam boilers on record has been attributed to the sudden ignition of coal gas, mixed with air, that had accumulated in the flues. The explosion occur-Twenty-two boilers, each with more than 1,000 blown to pieces, buildings covering half an acre were destroyed, and three men were killed.

A correspondent writes .- A carious trade has sprung up in East Kent in old and worn-out horses. They are experted to Holland, there On LUNION,killed, and from taci fiesh a popular article (supposed to be concentrated boof extract) is made. Mules are also in active request. Either in France or Beig um duty is payable on horses and donkeys, but males are exempt. Hence arises a good export trade. An old mule which the owner parted with for 50s. in Ashford market a fortnight ago was resold for £15 to an exporting agent, who disposed of it for £22 at Flushing.

Charles Kean was very angry once with a critic who ventured in a newspaper article to call his wife vulgar. The player asked him On BOMBAT .-to call at his house in the morning. As soon as he had him in a room, he looked the door, and kept the poor journalist in solitary confinement ON CALOUTYA .for several hours. "Oh, it was capital fun!" he said, when expostulated with afterwards. Depend upon it, the position was too absurd for him to make it public." The critic, when, inhis turn, he told the story, concluded with a mile, "Oh, yes, I took it quietly! One does not provoke a madman, but amuses oneself with

The extent to which Paris follows the Scripural injunction to "eat, drink, and be merry, s shown by the following statistics concerning he ball at the Hotel de Ville, which was held reontly. During the night the dancers drank. 6,000 glasses of ale. 5,000 bottles of claret, 2,000 glasses of punch, 5,000 glasses of liqueur, ,000 cups of iced coffee, and 20,000 glasses of hampagne. The hung v were at the same time lled with good things in the following manner. They are 14,000 sandwiches, 6,000 pates de foie ras, 6,000 jellies, 12,000 buns, and 800 pieces of ought and other sweets. And thereupon they anced till six o'clock the next morning.

The applications of electricity to the needs of mankind are infinite, but it is something new to be told that its power can be turned to account in the felling of trees. Electric machines have recently been employed to this end in the Galician forests. As a foreign correspondent remarks-" Usually in such machines the trupk is sawn, but in this case it is drilled. When the wood is of a soft nature the drill has a sweeping motion and outs into the trunk by means of edges on its sides. The drill is actuated by an electric motor mounted on a carriage, which is brought up close to the tree and shackled to it. The motor is capable of turning round its vertical axis; and the drill is genred to it in such manner that it can turn through an arc of a circle and make a sweeping cut into the trunk. The first cut made, the drill is advanced a few inches and another section of the wood removed in the same way until the trunk is half severed. It is then clamped to keep the out from closing, and the opration continued until it would be unsafe. to go on. The remainder is finished by a hand saw or an axe. The current is conveyed to the motor by insulated leads brought through the forest from a generator placed in some convert SWATOW, AMOY, TWANFOO ment site.
